Sheriff Finch Asks Township to Take Action Against Carnivals

QUADRUPLE AMPUTEE MARRIES—James W. Wilson, the only quadruple amputee of World War II, and his wife, the former Dorothy Motenson, cut their wedding cake shortly after their marriage in Jacksonville. Fla. The couple will honeymoon in Canada, Wilson driving in his own car.

It's Captain Harry Today As Truman, Buddies Frolic

St. Louis, June 10—(AP)—President Truman slipped easily into his old role of "Captain Harry" of Battery D today to frolic with world War one comrades even as he prepared to unleash another blast at Soviet agression.

He demonstrated the change of pace for which he is famous as he brought a weekend visit to his native Missouri toward a close by sampling everything the annual reunion of the 35th division had to offer.

An Extra Touch

It was enough to exhaust many a man of his 66 years. But Truman added an extra touch—a 3½ mile ride in an ancient coach pulled by four black horses.

The mood switches back to the solemn at 2 p. m. (CST) when he delivers the second of two major foreign policy talks at Jefferson Memorial on the Mississippi river front.

The voice of America decided to broadcast the speech—hailed by his aides as the toughest indictment yet of the Russians.

A University of Missouri commencement day audience soaked to the skin heard him warn the whole world yesterday that United States aid to free nations will not cease when the Marshall plan folds up in 1952.

Peace Is Costly

He made it clear that the battle for peace will be "long and hard" and that it will be costly to the American people.

Truman contends that Russian talk of peaceful intentions is not supported by Russian actions.

The man who can switch easily from the heavier affairs of state to the enjoyment of cronies made the most of the time allotted on his

Graduation Is Anti-Climactic To 'Fisherman'

Rock Island, Ill. June 10—(AP)—George Kiefer's graduation from high school last night was a little anti-climatic.

The 18-year old student went fishing yesterday afternoon to kill time while awaiting commencement exercises at Rock Island high school.

His catch for the afternoon was 72 pounds of catfish—three flatheads weighing 38, 22 and 12 pounds.

George said he raised the fish in a deep pool just above the steel dam in Rock river. He used a bamboo pole 45-pound-test line, and plain steel hooks with minnows and worms.

None of the fish was a record weight—usually half a dozen over 40 pounds are hooked in a season near here—but it was the season's record catch.

Vandenberg's Wife Dies; Had Aetive Career

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Hazel Whittaker Vandenberg, wife of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, died early today.

Mrs. Vandenberg, 67, had had spells of serious illness since she underwent two major operations in 1947. Despite this and her many duties as a senator's wife, she continued active until recently in a varied career of her own.

Led Building Drive

She served for a time as national chairman of the University of Michigan Alumnae association and led in a drive for $1,000,000 Woman's League building at the university.

In World War II she held a full-time job in the Red Cross, as director of camps and hospital services. She had served six years as national vice president of Delta Gamma sorority, was active in the Y. W. C. A. and was a member of the National Campfire Girls board.

But first of all her friends said, she was a companion and good right arm to her husband, the Re

Patricia Plumb Is Given Scholarship

DeKalb, Ill—Miss Patricia Plumb, freshman at Northern Illinois State Teachers college, DeKalb, was awarded the A. Neil Annas scholarship of $75 at the Honors Day assembly program, June 7.

This scholarship is awarded annually to a member of the Treble Clef (women's glee club) organization who has demonstrated high scholarship and loyalty to that organization. Miss Plumb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Plumb, 204 S. Dement avenue, Dixon.

Joe Vaile's Son In Truck Accident

Two trucks, one owned by the city of Dixon and operated by Don Vaile, son of Commissioner of Streets Joe E. Vaile, and the second belonging to Dixon township and operated by Robert Lindbloo, figured in a collision on Lincoln avenue yesterday afternoon.

According to the police report the city truck was the worst damaged in the crash.

Board May Be Asked to Bar 'Em in Future

Another Show Sets Up Here This Week

At the next regular Dixon township elector's meeting it is expected that the question of licensing carnivals in the township will be presented for action. Sheriff G. P. Finch in a conference with Supervisor A. C. Higby condemned the numerous carnivals that have been permitted to show in the community and asked that some action be taken to stop this type of entertainment. Last week, a carnival set up in the southwest section of the city and during the past week another carnival has been showing at the Country club snow grounds, with another group due to arrive over the coming weekend.

Supervisor Higby stated today that carnivals were permitted by motion made at a township electors' meeting and added that they could not be refused a permit until the electors took reverse action at another regular meeting. He added that he might call attention to the subject at the next meeting.

The Medusa Cement Co., has offered to donate cement for a concrete paving along their property east of the city the township to stand the expense of laying the slab. Higby stated that figures which have been furnished Dixon township, the cost of building a concrete paving along the cement company's property would be approximately $30,000, and he estimated that a black top surfaced road would cost about an equal amount.

The cement company according to Higby, has agreed to construct concrete curbs and gutters along its property to prevent further damage to the River road. They will also remove the switch tracks along the south side of the roadway to permit Dixon township to widen the drive to its original width. Their agreement does not include the removal of the switch tracks crossing the River road. Attorney Sterling Schrock, who is acting for the township, has been unable to find releases of right of way for the crossing tracks.

The road passing the company's property has been posted against overloads and the roadway has been improved to a point where it is in passable condition. It is estimated that the building of any type of permanent roadway along the 1,200 feet of privately-owned property cannot be met with township funds at this time.

Going Fishing? Try Your Luck In These Areas

Springfield, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Fishing's good in Illinois except for some central zone counties the State Conservation department reports.

Department investigators say herring and perch are being caught in Lake Michigan's weed beds and bullrushes. Crappies, bluegills and northern pike are biting in Chain-O Lakes, Wolf lake and Calumet lake. Fishermen are finding good bullhead fishing along the northern reaches of the Illinois river.

In the central zone, the bass are biting at Twin Lakes in Edgar county and at Canton lake. For catfish, they suggest Spoon river near Benadotte dam, for perch Myers dam and Quincy dam.

"Extra good" crappie and bluegill fishing is reported in Richland county in the southern zone. Bass and bluegills are biting at Moose lake in Edwards county. Horsnoe and Crab Orchard lake are yielding good bass, crappie and bluegill strings.

Is Mother to 45!

New York, June 10—(AP)—A six-foot poisonous snake mothered 45 babies today at Bronx zoo. Zoo obstetricians said there would be no more.

The mother, a Fer-De-Lance, arrived from Costa Rica last month. The record "litter" for this kind of snake is 63, officials said.

Alcoholics Anonymous Doing Great Work Among Drinkers

By AN ALCOHOLIC
Article V
(Last of the series)

The victim of alcoholism suffers from mental, physical and social disorders which he has not been able to treat, correct or solve for himself. For the purpose of rehabilitation or recovery, all of the factors having any bearing on the alcoholic's disordered personality must be considered in any course of treatment. It is essential to bear in mind that we speak of rehabilitation or recovery rather than "cure" because there is no cure for alcoholism, at least to date.

A cure would imply that the compulsion underlying alcoholism would be removed. It would further imply that the alcoholic could resume drinking without experiencing any of the difficulties previously associated with his uncontrolled drinking. All evidence gathered thus far clearly rules out the possibility of an alcoholic ever becoming a moderate, controlled drinker. The objective of all treatments is to stop the drinking and correct the personality defects of the individual so that he can become a contented, useful person without the use of alcohol.

"AA" INFORMATION

Persons desiring information on "Alcoholic Anonymous" in Dixon should write Box 59, Dixon Post-office, Dixon, Ill.

A Medical Problem

Since alcoholism is an illness, it is a medical problem and a physician or psychiatrist interested in the problem should be consulted whenever possible. Diagnosis of the underlying causes—mental, physical or social—responsible for the excessive uncontrolled drinking should be determined at the outset in order to prescribe the

Dairy Strike Cuts Off Milk for Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, June 10—(AP)—Hospitals, orphanages and homes for the aged are about the only places where milk is being delivered today in Pittsburgh and nearby communities.

A strike of 3,250 milk and dairy workers has cut off other deliveries to some 2,500,000 western Pennsylvanians.

Alan Thompson Weds Betty Hipple Here

Alan Thompson and Betty Hipple both of this city were wed last evening at the Methodist church.

Mr. Thompson is in charge of the Produce department at the A & P store and the bride is employed at the Telephone office.

Thicksten Pays $10 As Reckless Driver

Howard A. Thicksten, 12, of Rock Falls was assessed a fine of $10 and costs when arraigned before Judge Grover Gehant in the Lee county court yesterday afternoon on a reckless driving charge preferred by Chief Deputy Sheriff Charles Redebaugh.

Dixon National Pays 10%; Not Like Theaters

Stockholders of the Dixon National Bank today were advised by H. O. Lovett, president, that a semi annual dividend of 10 per cent was being paid. This is an increase of four per cent over the semi-annual dividend paid last year.

In December of last year a 14 per cent dividend was paid, making total dividend payments last year of 20 per cent.

(At a recent meeting of the Dixon Theater company, no dividends were paid to stockholders. It was brought out at the meeting of the theater company that the president of the company, two realtives and a manager get $34,580 a year as managerial costs).

Some companies pay dividends regularly to their stockholders—some do not.

Hot and Humid Spell Is Ended

Cool air and thundershowers ended a hot and humid spell for much of the midwest today but the sticky weather continued in some areas.

The hot and humid line extended from central lower Michigan to northern Texas. The showers and thundershowers were over areas from lower Michigan through parts of Illinois and Indiana southwest ward into northern Texas.

The gulf and Atlantic coast states had mostly fair and warm weather. It also was fair over the northern plains and western parts of the country with readings near normal.

A tornado hit in the eastern outskirts of Blackwell, Okla., last night, but no one was hurt. A severe electrical storm hit the Chicago area.

Legionnaires Asked To Martenson Rites

Members of Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion are requested to meet at the Legion hall Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock to attend in a body the funeral of Ted Martenson at the Jones funeral home at 2:30.

Sen. McCarthy In Revelation At GOP Confab

Picture Shows Him Amerasia Man

Washington, June 10—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) has released a picture which he says shows Owen Lattimore and Philip Jaffe together at Communist headquarters in Yenan, China, in 1937.

Both Lattimore, now a Johns Hopkins university professor, and Jaffe, one-time editor of the Amerasia magazine, which no longer is published, have been key targets of McCarthy's charges that the government is carrying Communists and pro-Communists on its payroll.

McCarthy has accused Lattimore, an expert on far eastern affairs, of being Russia's top agent in the United States. This accusation was made in connection with the senator's charges that the State Department is a haven for Communists.

Denounces McCarthy

Lattimore, denouncing McCarthy as a "madman," has denied under oath that he ever was a Communist.

Jaffe figured in the notorious Amerasia documents case, which involved the alleged theft of hundreds of secret government papers in wartime. Jaffe was arrested after the New York headquarters of the magazine "Amerasia" were raided in 1945 by agents of the Office of Strategic Services and the FBI. He was fined $2,500 for conspiracy to obtain secret government documents. Five others were arrested. One other was fined and charges against four others were dropped.

Reached in Baltimore today and asked about the picture, Lattimore told a reporter.

"I was at Yenan in 1937. I had a camera. Everybody had a camera and we all took pictures."

Also shown in the picture released by McCarthy was a third man identified by the senator's office here as T. A. Bisson. Bisson's name has figured in a senate speech by McCarthy relating to his (Bisson's) alleged travels in China with Lattimore and Jaffe.

Lattimore, too, in his testimony before a senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating Mc-

Mrs. Church Gets GOP Nomination By Heavy Vote

Waukegan, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church yesterday was nominated to succeed her husband, the late Rep. Ralph E. Church, Republican from the 13th Illinois congressional district.

The nomination was left to a convention of GOP district leaders as the result of Church's death before the April 11 primary. It was too late to remove his name then from the ballot and he got the most votes.

Mrs. Church led on the first two ballots last night, 22,366 to 16,793 for Prof. William McGovern, Northwestern university political scientist. A third candidate, Richard J. Lyons, former state revenue director, had 8,211 and five others got scattered votes. On the second ballot, Lyons withdrew in Mrs. Church's favor and the final tally showed 39,584 for Mrs. Church and 14,371 for McGovern. A majority was required for nomination.

Sees 'Red'

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—William G. Gibson, 46, a salesman, saw red—fire engine red—when he went to get his car in a parking lot yesterday.

Gibson had left his car for parking purposes only. But someone—police did not determine who—applied a paint job to his quiet gray model. It now is a bright red. The paint had been applied with an expert touch, apparently with a paint sprayer. The chromium finish and windows had been taped to protect them from the spray.

TRUMAN GETS DEGREE—Leslie Cowan (left), vice president of the University of Missouri, places the hood donating the Honorary Doctor of Law degree on President Truman and Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush (right), President of the University, who conferred the degree, watches. Rain washed out the commencement exercises shortly after the president finished his address to the graduating class in Columbia, Mo.

'Pink' Reference in Digest Magazine Irks Methodists

Bloomington, Ill., June 10—(AP)—The Illinois annual conference of the Methodist church, yesterday expressed displeasure with a Reader's Digest article entitled "The Pink Fringe of Methodism." The article concerned the Methodist Federation for Social Action.

The conference also formally disapproved intermarriage of Protestants and Roman Catholics under the Catholic church's requirement that children of such marriages be reared in the Catholic faith.

Hit Gambling

Another resolution urged enforcement of anti gambling laws of the state.

The resolution concerning Stanley High's article in Reader's Digest said the conference "deplores the use of such expressions as 'pink fringe' when used to apply to a group which is trying to apply Christian ideals to daily living."

Included was a statement by Bishop J. Ralph Magee resident bishop of Chicago who has charge of the conference.

Praises Efforts

Bishop Magee said "it is largely due to this group's education and discussion process that we have collective bargaining and an eight-hour day."

"That there are Methodists who in their enthusiasm for such reforms make statements most of us would not follow is of little significance. As Americans, they have a right to say what they want."

Two Cars Involved In Accident Here

Two cars were involved in a crash last night about 11:30 at the intersection of the River road and Stoney Point road. Floyd Missman of Nachusa with six passengers in his car was driving east and started to make a left turn when the second car operated by James Ottinger of route 3, Dixon, sideswiped in passing.

None of the occupants of the Missman car was injured while Ottinger's young son suffered head injuries and was removed to the KSB hospital where the injuries were treated and then taken to his home. This morning the youth was returned to the hospital when his condition become worse and was to submit to X ray examination later in the day.

"Operation Reunion" Flight Left Today

Seattle, Wash., June 10—(AP)—A chartered DC-4 loaded with sleepy kids, war brides and a few husbands took off from Boeing field at 12.01 (PST) today on "operation reunion."

Their destination was London.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses were issued today by County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock: Melburn L. Schrock, 18, and Miss Mavis Jean Herbst, 18, both of Franklin Grove, and Leonard M. Wiltfang, 22, Oregon, and Miss Jean E. Smith, 21, Dixon.

Roy Shelton Buried; Fear More Killings

Fairfield, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Another of the vanishing Sheltons—a clan once feared in these parts—will be laid to rest today.

Roy Shelton, 65, third of the Shelton brothers to die in violence, will be buried alongside Carl Shelton, mastermind of the lawless Shelton gang which once ruled southern Illinois with an iron hand and gunfire.

The funeral won't match the gaudy standard set by the fast-living and faster dying underworld in the prohibition era, but it will be sumptuous at least by Fairfield measures.

Expensive Funeral

The big burnished copper casket has boosted the funeral into the $3,000 class—way above the average $600 to $700 funerals.

At least three Shelton's—Brother Earl and his nephews, Little Carl and Little Earl—have places in the funeral cortege. Big Earl and Little Earl both have twice been targets of gunmen. They plan to ride unguarded to the burial plot in Maple Hill ceme-

Race Horses Die In Fire; Estimate Loss Is $700,000

Chicago, June 10 — (AP) — A watchman perished and between 17 and 22 racing horses burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed the huge barn on the Emil Denemark farm near suburban Hinsdale.

Denemark estimated the loss at $700,000.

Among horses that died in the fire was Curtice, which last year won the $57,850 futurity at Washington Park race track.

Lightning struck the roof of the barn during a severe electrical storm, setting fire to some 200 tons of hay in the loft.

Denemark said he recently refused an offer of $100,000 for Curtice.

John Cooney, 38, a watchman who lived in the barn, said the flames spread rapidly and dense clouds of smoke soon were billowing from the 320-foot long, 40-stall wooden structure.

Cooney said he and Frank Nemecek, 48, the watchman who perished in the flames, attempted to rescue some of the frightened animals.

Indict Gold, Two Others for Spying

Washington, June 10—(AP)—A Brooklyn grand jury today indicted Harry Gold, Philadelphia chemist, and two unidentified persons on charges of atom spying against the United States.

The grand jury said that these three conspired to deal with Dr. Fuchs "and divers other persons to the grand jury unknown" to give secrets to the union of Soviet Socialist Republics in 1944 and 1945.

The charges were presented to the federal grand jury in Brooklyn, because most of Gold's contacts with Fuchs were alleged to have occurred in territory within its jurisdiction.

Gold, 39, is now held in Philadelphia. He is to be given a hearing there on Monday.

Death Sentences for Four in Czech Trials

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 10—(AP)—Czechoslovakia wound up its big treason trial last night, meting out death sentences to four persons and life imprisonment to four others on charges of spying for western powers.

Five Roof Styles Popular

Because of the size and prominence of the roof, the appearance of a building depends to a large extent on the roof's shape Most homes and farm structures today have roofs of one of five styles—gable, hip, shed, gothic or gambrel.

The gable roof, with two sloping sides that meet at the top to form a ridge, is the kind used most frequently. It provides ample attic space If the area directly under the roof is used for rooms, dormer windows can be cut into the roof surface.

The hip roof is another kind found on many homes. This style is often used for modern architectural designs.

The shed roof also is a favorite of modern home architects. In addition, it is used for sheds, as the name indicates, and for farm buildings, utility buildings and other service structures.

Gothic and gambrel roofs are used mainly for barns. Both types provide plenty of mow storage space for hay or grains.

With any one of these five styles, asphalt roofing is the roofing material most often used. At least one type of this versatile material is suitable for any roof, either pitched or flat. More than 80 percent of all the roofing used in the United States is asphalt roofing, according to the Department of Commerce.

Veteran St. Louis Reporter Dies, 73

St. Louis, June 10—(AP)—Carlos F. Hurd, veteran of nearly half a century on the news staff of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, died at his home yesterday of cancer. He was 73.

Hurd wrote many of the outstanding stories of the times. Perhaps his most famous was an exclusive account of the 1912 sinking of the Titanic based on interviews with survivors.

He was sailing to Europe on the Carpathia when it went to the Titanic's rescue after the vessel struck an iceberg and went down The story was distributed throughout the world by the Associated Press.

For years Hurd supplied the "weatherbird" comment which appears daily on the front page of the Post-Dispatch.

Home on Four Levels

Second and third levels of house are shown in plan at right. Fourth level is shown above. First level with garage and utility room is under the three bedrooms, bath and hall.

Although this house appears to be a normal story-and-a-half dwelling, it actually has rooms on four distinct interior levels. Because of this unique arrangement, the house has been selected as Plan No. 41 by American Builder magazine, 30 Church St., New York 7.

The lowest level includes the garage and utility room; the second level, hall, kitchen, breakfast room, living-dining room and screened porch, third level, three bedrooms, hall and bathroom, and fourth level, one bedroom, bathroom and storage area. Short flights of stairs connect the levels.

The 15- by 25-foot combination living-dining room has two picture windows with double-glazed glass, a fireplace and built-in bookcases.

The utility room on the first level has provision for laundry facilities and for a water heater, an incinerator and a gas-fired, forced-air furnace

(Detailed building plans of this house are available from American Builder, 30 Church St., New York 7, N. Y. Refer to Plan No. 41.)

Hollywood Writers Begin Jail Terms

Washington, June 10—(AP)—Handcuffed together, Hollywood writers John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo were hauled off to jail today to serve time for contempt of congress.

Each has been sentenced to a year but there still is a chance that a pair of federal judges will reduce the time.

The two still must pay $1,000 fines for defying the house un-American activities committee and refusing to say whether they ever were Communists. Committee hearings produced accusations that they were Reds.

'Fire Acheson,' Says McCarthy At GOP Session

Milwaukee, June 10—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) loosed a bitter new blast at Secretary of State Dean Acheson today and demanded again that Acheson be fired immediately.

Referring to him as "the Red Dean of fashion," McCarthy said Acheson had "worked on the team of world strategy to create a Red China and a Red Poland" and "should be removed from the high command of our foreign policy at once."

At GOP Confab

McCarthy spoke out in a speech prepared as the keynote address of the Wisconsin Republican state convention.

Acheson, he said, is at the forefront of what he called the Truman administration's policy of "warmongering abroad while it permits the enemy within our gates to operate with impunity."

"You can condemn Communism in general terms," the Wisconsin senator declared, "in the Acheson manner with a lace handkerchief, a silk glove and a Harvard accent, if you please.

"But you can't fight Communism in that fashion. I know of not one single reason why Communists should be handled with kid gloves. They don't use kid gloves or powder puffs on us."

Criticizes Loans

McCarthy devoted a large part of his speech to criticism of a $90,000,000 American loan to Communist Poland in 1946, at a time when Acheson's former law firm was handling Poland's business in this country. Acheson was then undersecretary of state.

"Fifty million of that ninety million went to equip and arm the Communist army and the dreaded U. B.—the Communist secret police just then being set up in Poland," McCarthy said.

"It was Mr. Acheson who placed the guns, the whips, the blacksnakes and the clubs in the hands of these Communists. It was Mr. Acheson who furnished them with bullets to keep a Christian population under Soviet discipline. It was Mr. Acheson who helped put uniforms on the masters of prostate Poland."

Those who charge that the government is harboring Communists, McCarthy said, are "victims of an all-out campaign of vilification and smear launched by the vast taxpayer supported press corps of the government agencies and supported by the left-wing, phoney 'liberal' press and radio commentators."

Dr. Birge, Nationally Known Educator, Dies

Madison, Wis., June 10—(AP)—Dr Edward A. Birge, president emeritus of the University of Wisconsin since 1925, died today.

A member of the Wisconsin faculty for 75 years, he would have been 99 years old in September.

Twenty-five years ago Dr Birge "retired" but he continued to work at his office to do scientific research and writing.

He joined the faculty in 1875 as an instructor in natural science. He was named president in 1918, serving for seven years. He also served as acting president from 1900 to 1902. His wife died in 1919.

Funeral services have not been arranged.

Roofing for Homes Tested In Two Kinds of Weather

To research scientists in the roofing industry, there are two kinds of weather. There is "natural" weather, odd as that term might seem, and weather made by machine.

The most helpful machine is the weather-ometer, in which a year's amount of sunlight or rain can be compressed into a few days. To test asphalt roofing for resistance to sunlight, an ultra-violet arc light is used. In rain tests, water under pressure is spraved on the roofing samples.

Because these experiments show which materials are the most durable, they lead to improvement of asphalt roofing products. Research has been conducted for more than 24 years at the National Bureau of Standards in Washington.

The principal testing station for determining the durability of asphalt roofings under natural conditions is at Houston, Texas. Here, more than 5,000 roofing samples are exposed to the most unpredictable weather in the United States.

Houston was chosen as the location of the testing station after a study of U. S. Weather Bureau records. Average humidity at Houston is 78 percent. Annual rainfall is more than 50 inches. The temperature is 90 degrees or higher on 100 days of the year. Strong winds, some dry and some moist, blow from all directions.

Continuous driving rain is simulated in the weather-ometer as asphalt shingles are submitted to a rigorous laboratory test. To create the effect of sunlight, an intense ultra-violet arc light is put in place of the water nozzles.

An Ostrich Egg Goes to a Party, and Boyle Goes Along

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—What would you do if you opened your door and a man handed you an ostrich egg?

And the egg had been laid, not by just an ordinary neck-in-the-sand ostrich, but by a real racing ostrich?

This interesting experience befell Elizabeth Baker the other day. She answered a door knock, and a fellow said, "Here, lady," handed her a box, and galumphed back down the stairs.

Miss Baker, a pretty blonde from Larned, Kas., noted that the mysterious box was insured for $45. Opening it she saw, nestling in a well padded bed—a big five-pound egg.

Then along came a letter from Jim Casper's alligator and ostrich farm near St. Augustine, Fla., advising Miss Baker they had shipped her "an egg laid by one of our fastest racing ostriches."

Elizabeth and her young roommate, Phyllis Nelson of Wilmar, Minn., talked the odd gift over. Then they came across this paragraph in the letter from the Casper farm:

"The egg will furnish an omelette serving for 20 people. They are highly prized by gourmets."

"Let's invite some friends in—and see if they'll help us eat it," said Elizabeth.

This is how I came to attend what is probably the first cocktail party for an ostrich egg ever held in Manhattan.

There were a dozen of us. And we were all a bit nervous. A hole was bored in each end of the egg with a pair of scissors. It took ten minutes for the contests to drip out.

One guest looked and left.

The girls meanwhile had done a little research in how to cook ostrich eggs. They are dry, and you have to mix them with beer or cream. They added the cream and began cooking batches of omelette in relays. When the first servings were brought in on toast, another guest suddenly remembered he, too, had an appointment elsewhere.

The remaining ten gamely went to work on the omelette. And everybody after a tentative taste called for more.

But it is doubtful if the ostrich will soon put the nation's hens out of work.

The price for a dozen ostrich eggs? About $120.

Coffee Speculation Crackdown Asked

Washington, June 10—(AP)—A senate committee today asked a justice department crack-down on speculative trading in coffee.

The request was made by the agriculture subcommittee, headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), which has been investigating the sharp rise in coffee prices in recent months.

The group recommended that the attorney general and his anti-trust attorneys seek "injunctive relief" against futures contracts now used for speculative trading, saying a "civil suit under the anti-trust laws" unless coffee stocks held in this country by Colombian and other foreign coffee interests are immediately disposed of in channels of trade.

Bushman, the Gorilla, Is Gravely Ill

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—Bushman, a massive, ugly-faced gorilla who is regarded as the world's prized zoo animal and probably has more fans than a movie star, is gravely ill.

The famed ape, Chicago's biggest single attraction for some 20 years, was reported suffering from the combined effects of arthritis, heart disease and old age.

"He might die in the next five minutes or he may live a year," said Dr Wesley Young, managing director of the Anti-Cruelty Society and for many years head veterinary at the Lincoln Park zoo.

The veterinarians attending Bushman diagnosed his illness from a distance. They said that even in his weakened condition it would be impossible to enter Bushman's cage to examine him.

No one has entered the huge gorilla's cage since 1936. The ban was ordered after Bushman, then weighing 150 pounds, pulled his 185-pound trainer down a flight of stairs.

Is 22 Years Old

Bushman is 22 years old and said to be the oldest gorilla in captivity. He weighs 550 pounds and is 6 feet, two inches tall. The strength of his hands is immense, veterinarians said, and even if he were unconscious his reflexes might seriously injure a man.

The veterinarians are giving digitalis—a heart stimulant—in his food. But he is not getting his normal daily diet of 20 pounds of food and three quarts of milk. It has been reduced to some fruit and milk. Guards maintained a 24-hour vigil near the big ape's cage.

Zoo veterinarians said it was not known what age a gorilla may attain in normal surroundings, "but there's no doubt Bushman has lived the full life span we could expect for a zoo animal."

Bushman, who collapsed Thursday after he was let out into his open air summer quarters, still was on exhibition at the zoo. Veterinarians said they did not wish to interrupt his regular routine or shut him away with a curtain before his glass fronted cage.

"He likes crowds and they seem to stimulate him," they said.

And some 3,000,000 persons a year go to Lincoln park primarily to see Bushman. He has been a showman from the time he was brought to the zoo when he was two years old and weighed 38 pounds. He was captured in the French Cameroon country of West Africa.

Cost $3,500

The zoo paid $3,500 for Bushman. Zoo officials have said because he is irreplacable, it was impossible to estimate his value in money.

But the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums in 1946 tabbed him as "the most outstanding animal of any zoo in the world and the most valuable."

Presbyterians Oppose Vatican Representative

Decatur, Ill., June 10—(AP)—The Presbyterian synod of Illinois doesn't want President Truman to send a representative to the Vatican. At the closing session of its four-day meeting yesterday the synod adopted a resolution to that effect.

Myron C. Taylor formerly was President Roosevelt's envoy. He resigned several months ago and has not been replaced.

A committee headed by the Rev. Frank L. Kinsman of Edwardsville drafted the resolution adopted by the 100 ministers and laymen.

Woman Golf Champ Murdered; Suitor Is Sought

Pontiac, Mich., June 10—(AP)—Pontiac's woman golf champion was killed and her mother and her male escort wounded in a shotgun ambush today.

The slain woman was Mrs. Thelma Clark, 39-year old divorcee, who won the last of her three city women's championships last summer.

Police were hunting Lloyd Gesch, 50, described as the prominent sportswoman's ex suitor. A contractor, Gesch drove up to the home of an employe soon after the shooting left some personal belongings and said according to police:

"Take these, I'll be dead in 20 minutes."

Wounded in the 3:30 a. m. ambush in front of her home were Mrs. Ray Gorsline, 58, mother of the dead woman and Charles Moore 38, her escort for the evening. Their condition is not serious.

Hungary to Isolate Country from West

Vienna, June 10—(AP)—Diplomatic sources here said today Communist Hungary has taken new steps to isolate that country from the west.

They said these steps are accompanied by mounting hysteria over espionage which is sweeping hundreds of Hungarians from all walks of life into jails each week as spy suspects.

In the poultry world "cannibalism" is encountered when one chicken picks the head of another, drawing blood.

Beauty in Wood Veneer

Richness in beauty and ease of maintenance are combined in this modern kitchen with wall and counter cabinets made of sturdy hardwood plywood faced with attractive red birch wood veneer. The smooth surface of the cabinets eliminates dust-catching corners. Hand prints are easily wiped off, and the sparkle of the entire wood area can be maintained by rubbing it infrequently with a waxed cloth.

Doctor Uses Talcum Powder To Help Muscles of Heart

Philadelphia, June 10—(AP)—Talcum powder has been blown onto weakened heart muscles to create a stimulating irritation, says a New York surgeon.

Dr Samuel Thompson, associate professor of surgery at the New York Medical College and professor of thoracic surgery at the Flower Fifth Avenue hospital, New York, described the technique at the annual meeting of the Jefferson Medical College Alumni association.

He said the new method was developed to rehabilitate persons with coronary occlusions—the closing of a branch of the arteries supplying the heart.

Of 42 patients operated on by his staff Dr Thompson reported, "27 claim they are leading normal lives."

After slitting the pericardial sac, encasing the heart Dr Thompson explained, talcum powder is injected into the sac by blowing.

The talcum irritates the area and creates a new blood supply, he said.

In persons who suffer from coronary occlusion, there is an almost complete lack of blood supply to the heart muscle. This causes either instant death or cripples the victim to a point where he is barely able to move about without severe attacks of pain.

The placing of talcum powder in the heart sac and the creation of a new blood supply through irritation changes the condition from a lack of blood supply to one of abundance, Dr. Thompson said.

The talcum powder, he said, remained in the sac for years without undergoing any change.

Special Paints Made to Protect Masonry Surfaces

Exterior surfaces of stone, brick, concrete and stucco will "inevitably succumb" to the attack of natural weather elements unless the material is given proper maintenance treatment, says American Builder magazine.

The magazine explains that paints for these masonry surfaces can be divided into four classes: cement-water paint, resin-emulsion paint, oil paint, and paint containing rubber.

Cement-water paint is suitable for application on walls that are damp at the time of painting or that might become damp later as a result of structural defects. It also is recommended for new structures and for open-texture surfaces such as cinder block.

Relatively dry, glossy surfaces should be painted with resin-emulsion paint or paint containing rubber, American Builder says. Cast concrete and tile are masonry surfaces of this kind.

For dry walls constructed so that they will remain dry after painting, the magazine suggests oil paint.

Paints in these four classes should not be used on floors, American Builder cautions. Masonry floors need a hard-drying paint with good water resistance and good gloss retention, the publication says.

Brother of Madame Chiang Quits Party

Taipei, June 10—(AP)—T. V. Soong, millionaire brother of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, has quit the Kuomintang—China's Nationalist ruling party—rather than come to Formosa where his sister and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek have pledged to die.

The central executive committee of the party announced his resignation today.

The Kuomintang said the Soong, one of the wealthiest men in the world, chose to resign rather than come to this Communist threatened island, refuge of all that Chiang has left of his once populous nation.

An anagram which reads the same backward and forward is called a palindrome. A classic example is "Madam, I'm Adam."

Coal Industry Isn't Sick

Julian Conover, secretary of the American Mining Congress, is not among those who think that coal is a "sick" industry, which should be treated with the bitter medicine of government investigations and bureaucratic controls.

In a recent talk he said that coal needs certain things—including fair tax treatment with adequate allowances for depletion and development, and application of the antitrust laws to labor monopolies just as they are applied to industrial monopolies. He added, "Coal is an industry which has never asked for nor received a government subsidy, an industry which supplies over half of our energy requirements and which must be prepared to carry most of the tremendous extra load in an emergency . . . The coal industry asks only for a favorable climate in which to work out its own destiny."

As a matter of fact, coal has demonstrated again and again that it is basically healthy. It has met every demand for the product made upon it. It has given every effort, along with huge sums of money, to modernize its plants and equipment. Last year it established a new all-time safety record. And only a healthy industry could have survived in the face of a union monopoly which has shut-down production time after time on the flimsiest pretexts, and which has displayed an utter disregard for the interests of the industry, the consumer, the national security, and labor itself.

Two Great Dangers in U. S.

Senator Robinson of Virginia recently said that American constitutional liberty is being threatened by big government and by big labor. As examples he cited an unsound social security system, a system of federal aid to education which would lead to federal control over public schools, and proposals for compulsory health insurance which would bring socialized medicine.

Then he spoke of the constant efforts to invade the rights of the individual to obtain special privileges for certain groups. As an instance of this, he pointed to the exemption from antimonopoly laws given to labor groups. Finally, he observed that he has introduced a bill in the senate to end this exemption which would not interfere with labor's legitimate collective bargaining rights—but would prevent unreasonable use of labor's monopoly powers to restrain trade or commerce.

There are differences of opinion as to just what kind of legislative measures should be employed to control the labor monopoly. But it should be clear to all that decisive action must be taken and soon if the interests of the public, honest labor, and the national security are to be protected. No action can indefinitely stand such destructive and disgraceful actions as the series of coal strikes, to cite just one example, which periodically have paralyzed production of a vital commodity because of the whim of a labor czar.

Labor monopolies must be treated like other monopolies—without either discrimination or favoritism.

FURTHER STEPS IN SEX VICTORY

In order not to be tempted to follow promiscuity or self-indulgence—these enticing near cuts to sex victory—(7) make up your mind that none of them will work, except to work ruin. When the suggestion is made, "Now is your opportunity," reply, as I often do, "Yes, I know it is my opportunity—to go to hell, and I don't intend to go." And then turn to the Tempter and say, "If I do this, I would be as big a fool as you are, and I don't intend to be.

(8) Watch the place of your thinking. As Emerson says, "The ancestor of every action is a thought." Then stop the action at the place of the thought. Don't dally with the thought, saying, "I'll keep the thought, but I'll stop this side of the act." You won't, "for in any battle between the imagination and the will, the imagination always wins" so say the psychologists. Mind adultery issues in body adultery.

(9) If you are to keep the mind away from sex thinking, then keep the body away from sex propinquity. For the bodily desires are aroused almost mechanically by propinquity. If "propinquity is the soul of love," it is also the soul of lust. Don't put yourself close to the fire and then wonder why you are burnt. This makes all necking and petting dangerous preludes

(10) These suggested barriers are only the fences along the sides of an open road—that open road is love to Christ. You can expel one desire only by a higher desire. Let the love of Christ be the fire that eats up these lesser loves. All the prohibitions against the wrong use of the sex urge will not save you unless the love of Christ be at the center—then the sex urge becomes marginal and right. There are 32,000,000 statutes on the statute books of America to make people good. The Christian has only one: "Thou shalt love." And love becomes the fulfilling of the law. For when you love Christ, you are free—"love Christ and do what you like." For you will like the right.

O Christ, I would so fall in love with Thee and Thy ways that all lesser loves may become a part of that central controlling love. They shall lose themselves in Thee and find themselves in right expression. For Thou art the key to life—all life. I thank Thee. Amen.

☆ IN HOLLYWOOD ☆

By
ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood — (NEA) — The movies vs. television slug-fest, already called "show business' battle of the century" by Time Magazine, has gone into Round 2. Round 1 was a draw, although the movies, until the last few seconds, expected easy victory.

The movies' initial claim of first-round victory was based on a virtual boycott by Hollywood studios of Eugene F. McDonald, Jr.,'s Phonevision—movies ordered by telephone for home TV screens at $1 each. McDonald, president of Zenith Radio, came to Hollywood only to be denied the use of new screen product for a three-month test in Chicago this fall.

McDonald left town in a huff and there were handshakes all around the studio lots.

Then came a flash from Washington—and the bell for the end of Round 1. Television had come up with a draw.

The Washington flash reported the closing of 900 movie theaters in the last six months. All of the closings were in cities with television. The largest number of closings, 71, was from Philadelphia area, where TV is red hot.

Coming up in the next eight rounds will be slugging over big screen TV, the dream of Spyros Skouras; the studios' contract with the Musicians Union to keep musical sound tracks off TV and the decision over whether Hollywood itself will make films for television despite the walls of theater owners.

BELLS ARE RINGING

Frankie Laine and Nan Grey have set the marriage date—June 15. . . . The stork is about to drop bundle No. 6 at the home of David Hopkins, son of Harry Hopkins, and Cherry Preisser. . . . The inside on the finger-to-the-lip handling of Paramount's "Union Station" is that is is concerned with kidnapping, once a taboo theme with the old Will Hays office. The picture may have tough sledding in England, where the kidnap themes censorship still prevails.

UI is keeping Piper Laurie's pipes under wraps. She's supposed to have a Dinah Shore kind of voice. . . . "The Shoeless Division" is the tag of Greg Tallas' independent film to be shot in Greece this fall. All about a ragged army of kids who harassed the Germans during the war. . . . Editorial blasts against hot rods aren't stopping Milton Gunzberg, who will produce "Dream Buggy" as an independent this year. Gunzburg insists that hot rods help curb juvenile delinquency. Robert Young may be the star. Monogram's "Hot Rods" will have the same anti-juvenile delinquency theme.

Arlene Dahl loses her veil, gloves, hat and several other articles of clothing in a chase scene with Red Skelton in "Watch the Birdie." "It's an MGM type of strip tease," Arlene whispered.

This is Arlene's third picture with Red and the Skelton brand of horseplay between scenes doesn't bother her one smidgen. She said: "Only sometimes Red does something funny and when he turns around, I'm not there. That's because my knees are weak—just like my funny bone—and Red's fooling sends me smack down on the floor."

WARBLING TOGETHER

Dinah Shore and Jack Smith will team up for records. . . . Republic is looking for stories that will fit into the Will Rogers category in which to star Chill Wills. . . . Dennis O'Keefe winds up his role in "Women On the Run" and then runs into a series of 13 mystery films for television. . . . For one week at the Chicago theater, the Andrews Sisters will take home $35,000. . . . Cute cartoon title coming up at MGM: "The Two Mouseketeers."

UI thought it would be nice to give screen credit to four Sioux Indians playing important roles in "Tomahawk"—until the Indians turned in their names: George Underbaggage, Mary Trouble-in-the Feet, Madison Down-the-Well and Charlie Ache-in-the-Back.

The British beauty Jean Clair arrived in Hollywood a couple of months ago and couldn't get an appointment with a big-time agent. Other day one of the agent's assistants spotted Jean modeling bathing suits in a fashion show at the Beverly Tropics and signed her as a client.

Jess Barker is back before the cameras at UI in "The Milkman" and is wading through scripts again after a long drought. Even Sam Spade, Jess thinks, couldn't solve the mystery of why his career struck a snag.

"I can't think of anything I did to bring it on," Jess told me. "Why, I wasn't even blamed for anything concerning Ava Gardner."

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

South American Communist Papers Glad to See Mosinee 'Held' by Reds

mie papers in South America put a fantastic reverse twist on the story of the American Legion stunt in Mosinee, Wis., last May Day. Reports of the reaction to it have U. S. officials both laughing and very worried.

It will be remembered that the Legion in Mosinee simulated what would happen if the Commies took control of the town, to show how horrible it would be. Naturally many pictures were taken of the event and circulated all over the world.

However, in printing the captions under the pictures some Commie papers in South America just neglected to make clear that the whole thing was a sort of serious gag. One picture showed Benjamin Bitlow, a reformed Commie who helped the Legion with the stunt, pointing a gun at the head of Mosinee's chief of police. In big bold type above the picture were the words, "Chief of Police Assassinated." The caption below it read:

"Benjamin Gitlow, pistol in hand, secretary general of the Communist Party, is preparing to execute Chief of Police Carl Gewiss, after his having refused to carry out the orders given him by the Reds. The members of the American Legion in the city of Mosinee, Wis., U. S. A., did this in order to Commemorate the First of May."

Not the Way We Heard It

Another picture of the event showed the mayor being hauled out of his house, half-clad. Over it in big letters were the words, "Mayor Held." The caption said:

"Mayor Ralph Kronewetter, mayor of Mosinee, Wis., U. S. A., is being expelled from his house without time to change his pajamas in order to be executed minutes later by the Red troops which overthrew the government. This is part of an effective representation by the American Legion of Mosinee celebrating the First of May."

Some Citizens Taken in

A letter from an American citizen reported that after these pictures appeared in the paper, "all the people with whom I've spoken thought that the American Legion was a faction of the Communist Party." The letter quoted the following remarks heard on the street regarding the pictures:

"What a pity that even the Americans have fallen to the Communists."

"Why, they killed the chief of police and photographed the assassination."

The Worm (Pedestrian) Turns

American traffic experts have been invited to Norway this summer to take a look at a brand new traffic control gimmick being tried out in Oslo. It is a stop light regulated by pedestrians. When it was first installed for a test vehicular traffic was brought to a standstill. Walkers kept punching the button for a joke.

May Teach Home Defense Via Video

Uncle Sam is considering a plan to use television to teach citizens the facts of civilian defense against atomic attack. The proposal is to prepare a series of training films which show in detail what each citizen can do to best protect himself and family in case of A-bomb attack. The films would be distributed free to local television stations and their showing co-ordinated with other local civilian defense activities due to get under way soon. In areas where there are no television stations, the films would be given to local theaters.

Wants No Tax on Donations to Graveyard

George Washington Lopp, the dean of the American settlement in Paris, made one of his infrequent visits back to this country recently to talk a little business with the Bureau of Internal Revenue. For years he has been working in Paris for the establishment of an American cemetery there. It seems that it is the custom in France to dig up all graves and put the remains in a common burial plot after five years or so. Mr. Lopp is anxious for the Bureau to give a ruling which will permit an income tax deduction on any donations to the cemetery, which will provide permanent burial in individual graves.

During the Nazi occupation of France, Lopp was permitted to set up a canteen for all captured and interned Americans. He also is responsible for the construction of the first American hospital in Paris. Dedication date for the new cemetery is the first of August. All Americans who die in France can be buried there, free if their relatives can't afford to pay.

A Day With the FTC

Recent actions of the Federal Trade Commission: "After completion of required statutory proceedings, information shows that baseballs and tennis balls are marketed primarily on the basis of performance rather than their respective textile content."

In answer to a complaint charging a company with selling thumb tracks imported from Germany, with a "made in U. S. A." label, the accused firm replies, "at no time are any such tacks sold by respondents directly in any form to the consuming public."

Claims that certain synthetic ruby phonograph needles will give up to 25,000 plays are challenged and will be investigated.

All in a day's work.

May Check European Crime Roots

The Senate committee investigating organized crime in the U. S. is seriously considering sending some of its agents to Europe this summer. Many of the known underworld characters in the U. S. are foreign-born. In many cases they had criminal records before they ever came to the U. S. which they covered up in order to get in. This could lead to deportation proceedings.

It has been suggested that one way to break up the notorious Mafia gang which is in the crime picture in the U. S. is to get at its roots in Italy.

Tour Might Include 'Visit' With Luciano

There is also serious consideration of having one of the committee's investigators go to the notorious Lucky Luciano in Italy to find out if he will talk. He probably knows as much about crime in the U. S. as anyone and it is said that he still has powerful, close connection in the underworld here in spite of having been deported for his criminal activities.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Complicated Play Needs Planning

By OSWALD JACOBY

"When this hand was played in a rubber bridge game at our club recently," writes a Richmond fan, "declarer took a long time out for thought at one point. This puzzled me, as I shall soon explain.

"West opened the king of spades, and South won with the ace. South then drew two rounds of trumps. West discarding a low spade. South continued with a third round of trumps, and West discarded another spade. East discarded the deuce of diamonds.

"Declarer cashed the top clubs and led his remaining spade. West won with the jack of spades, and led back the queen of spades. East discarded a club on the third round of spades.

"After South had ruffed the third round of spades, he led the rest of his trumps. Both defenders discarded their clubs on these tricks. At this point it was clear that each hand held three diamonds, and South had to guess which defender had the queen in order to make his slam.

"This particular player does not put on an act when he plays bridge, but on this occasion he sat and thought for three and a half minutes before making a play. It seemed like a year!

"What can a player find to think about in all that time?"

If East is a poor player, there is no problem. His discard of the deuce of diamonds should indicate that he does not hold the queen of that suit.

If East is a good player, he might discard thet deuce of diamonds if he thinks that South considers him a poor player.

If South and East know each other to be good palyers, East would not discard a diamond no matter what he held. It is obvious that a club discard must be safe, so South would know that a diamond discard meant monkey business. He would probably see quite clearly that East actually held the queen of diamonds and was trying to disguise it.

If East happened to be a really great bridge player, he might discard a diamond from a worthless holding. The idea would be to persuade South that East was trying to disguise a strong diamond holding.

North: ♠ 7 6 2 ♥ Q 10 7 5 2 ♦ A J 10 ♣ 9 5
West: ♠ K Q J 8 4 3 ♥ None ♦ 8 6 3 ♣ Q 8 4 3

| 1 ♥ | 1 ♠ | 2 ♥ | Pass |
| 2 ♠ | Pass | 3 ♥ | Pass |
| 4 ♣ | Pass | 4 ♦ | Pass |
| 6 ♥ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

If you think that this is now becoming very complicated, I will agree with you. I think you will have to agree with me, however, that South has plenty to think about. He must decide how good East is, as a starter. From there he must go on to such delicate matters as East's opinion of South; and East's opinion of South's opinion of East.

See what I mean? My own practice, however, is to make such decisions very quickly. If I think too long, I tend to outguess myself.

☆ THE DOCTOR SAYS ☆

Watch Your Children for Any Symptoms of Polio

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Third of five articles on polio.

Even when there is a good deal of polio in a community not every illness in a child means that disease. Parents, however, should be alert to the danger and should not ignore any suspicious symptoms.

The first symptoms of polio may be like those of any other infection. Consequently, although one should not jump to the conclusion that every illness or mild indisposition is polio, warning signs should not be ignored without making sure that polio is not the cause.

The beginning signs of polio are likely to last for a few hours up to three or four days. A low fever is common. The victim may complain of feeling dizzy, slight muscular twitchings are common and the child may seem unusually irritable.

A slight stiffness of the neck is particularly significant. However, parents should be careful not to call too much attention to the possibility of stiffness of the neck, as this might cause a suggestible child to complain of something which is not really there.

As time goes on, stiffness becomes worse in the neck and in the back. The skin is likely to be sore and tender. The muscle weakness or paralysis usually does not show up for several days.

Most of these first symptoms may be present in an ordinary cold or some other minor illness. At times when polio is common, however, they should be considered seriously and the attendance of a physiican should be obtained and the progress carefully watched.

TAKES TIME

Even a physician, however, may have difficulty in making a diagnosis at first. Until a few days have passed it may be hard to tell polio from less serious conditions.

Also some people show the early symptoms of polio without ever developing paralysis. Probably some of these are caused by the same tiny virus which produces polio, but just does not attack the nervous system and cause paralysis.

Indeed there are reasons for believing that a lot of people may become infected with the polio virus and never know it. Perhaps this is the reason so many of us seem to have built up a resistance.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

New Books at The Dixon Library

Summer Library Hours: 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. except Thursdays, closed Thursday afternoons at 1:00.

How I Raised Myself from Failure to Success in Selling, by Frank Bettger. A book on selling which is currently a best seller

ABC of Lettering, by J. I. Biegeleisen. A complete and useful guide to the art of hand-lettering.

The Complete Book of Garden Magic, by Roy Biles. A new and revised edition of a standard book on gardening. The colored illustrations make the reader make new resolutions regarding his garden.

Annie Allen, by Gwendolyn Brooks. A small volume of poetry, a ballad, by a young Chicago Negro housewife, which won the 1950 Pulitzer prize for poetry.

The Marx Brothers, by Kyle Crichton. These four brothers were just as zany in real life as they were on the stage!

The Ben Lilly Legend, by J. Frank Dobie. Dobie has written often and well of the history and people of the Southwest. In this one he handles the facts and legends of Ben Lilly, "champeen hunter of the world."

Dr. Katherine Bell, by Evelyn Harter. A novel about the conflicts between the medical philosophies of two doctors, a husband and wife.

The Circle of the Day, by Helen Howe. A good novel for summer reading. All the action is centered in one day.

The Sunner Side, by Charles Jackson. A group of short stories by the author of "Lost Weekend." Of course they are well done.

I Chose Justice, by Victor A. Kravchenko. The continuation of Kravchenko's fight begun in "I Chose Freedom," his story of his conversion from Communism.

How to Build Your Own House, by Hugh Laidman. Another book of the type so popular now.

Mink on Week Days (Ermine on Sundays), by Felicia Lamport. Delightful caricatures of a wealthy New York family a few years ago.

Careers in Cartooning, by Lawrence Lariar. An excellent book pointing out all phases of cartooning as a profession.

The Legacy, by Nevil Shute Norway. A dramatic story of the war in Malaya with a happy ending which swings from London back to the South Pacific.

Guests of Don Lorenzo, by Robert Pick. A historical tapestry with Latin-American background. One of Don Lorenzo's guests knew the dark secret of his rise to power, but the seeds of his downfall were deep within Don Lorenzo himself.

Scott's Standard Postage Stamp Catalog, combines edition, 1950.

The Turquoise Trail, by Shirley Seifert. The Magoffin brothers with their wives journeyed by wagon train from Independence, Mo., almost to Monterrey, Mexico, about the time of the Mexican War.

Ladder to the Sky, by Joyce Tillery Simpson. A family narrative against a background of oil drilling and the entire petroleum industry.

Wintertime, by Jan Valtin. A grim novel of post-war Germany by the author of "Out of the Night."

Magnus the Magnificent, by Leslie Turner White. A story of danger, romance, and intrigue. Magnus Carter was pirate, prince, and great lover in the time of Queen Elizabeth.

Sports

Ted Williams, by Arthur Sampson. An understanding biography of the obstreperous Red Sox outfielder written by one of the few sports writers who does not actively dislike him.

Out of the Red, by Walter W. (Red) Smith. A collection of the famous sports columns.

Superior Mysteries

Contraband, by Cleve Adams.

Death and Letters, by Elizabeth Daly.

The Survivors, by Ralph Hammond-Innes.

Strangers on a Train, by Patricia Highsmith.

The High Place, by Geoffrey Household.

Edge of Panic, by Henry Kane

Murder in a Hurry, by the Lockridges.

Through a Glass, Darkly, by Helen McCloy.

Fell's United States Coin Book, by Jacques Del Monte. For collectors and others interested in coins.

Home Freezing for Everyone, by Alkire and Schuler. Gardens are beginning and food preservation comes next. Freezing is the newest method and this book discusses it in a very practical way.

The Higher Happiness, by Ralph Sockman. An inspirational book based on the Beatitudes. The author is the popular radio pulpit speaker.

James Joyce, by William York Tindall. "His way of interpreting the modern world". This small book is not simple reading altogether. Joyce is abstruse and any book concerning him must be too in some measure.

Yearbook of Agriculture, by U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. These yearbooks are a mine of information on agricultural subjects 1943-47 (in one vol.) is on the Science of Farming; 1948 is on Grass, an almost exhaustive treatment of grass and grasses; 1949 on Trees, again a thorough compilation on the subject. Although useful for specific articles, they also make exciting reading for anyone at all interested in farming and its progress. These volumes came through the courtesy of Congressman Leo Allen.

In Sicily, by Elio Vittorini. A young Sicilian returns home after 15 years to see his mother. Within this slight frame the author delves into the suffering and death, mankind and its disillusionment. Critics have compared the book, translated from the Italian, to Saroyan and Hemingway.

You May Not Be Interested, But ---

The government owns $27,000,000 worth of supplies and materials. But departments continue to buy supplies which departments have in surplus. There is no central inventory.

Women who bore instead of charm:

The woman who is always expecting the worst to happen and can point out flaws in any plan.

The woman who can't makeup her mind—even when she is doing nothing more momentous than trying to decide whether to have the creamed chicken or the fruit plate on a luncheon menu.

The woman who is so intent on impressing you, she doesn't even get your name straight.

The woman who always does more than her share of the talking

The woman who cultivates a bored look, in the belief that it makes her look sophisticated.

The woman who is forever apologizing.

The woman who is fundamentally a "busy body" and is always asking the kind of questions other people hope won't be asked.

The woman who thinks there is only one way of doing things—her way.

The women who makes the most, conversationally, of her real or imagined ailments.

UNSOLICITED ADVICE GETS COLD SHOULDER

The woman who believes in "speaking her mind" and would much rather tell you something for "your own good" than to tell you something that would make you feel good.

The woman who is a born organizer, and can't resist the impulse to complicate the simplest plan by insisting on running it according to a schedule—planned by her, of course.

The woman who takes price in the fact that she has to "keep busy."

The "good" woman who thinks she is just a little bit better than most people.

The woman who has never learned how to listen.

The woman whose attention is never where she is who rushes from one thing to another so fast she is always more concerned with what is going to happen next than what is happening at the moment.

BROWNIE TROOP 27

This is the third grade Loveland troop and although it has only five members it is very active and is under the leadership of Mrs. W. R. Kitson.

They have taken trips to Countryman's silver fox and mink farm and the Lee County Historical Museum at the Loveland Community House.

One school bag was packed for overseas and a special study was made of Holland. Many interesting stories were read about Holland. White Dutch aprons and caps were made and designed with many colorful tulips.

The girls entertained their mothers with a tea at the home of their leader in May. This spring they have had nosebag lunches and hikes through Lowell park to study the wild flowers. Before the year's activities close they plan to have a family picnic.

Girls in the troop are: Patty Gallagher, Jean Kishbaugh, Martha Kitson, Marilyn Mondlock and Sally Thayer.

INTERMEDIATE TROOP 30

This is the fifth grade troop at Lincoln school and is under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Dusing with Mrs. Paul O. Johns as assistant.

Work for the year has been mainly that of fulfilling the requirements for the second class badge. Fifteen girls are now eligible.

On May 15 they had a Mother's party at Lincoln school. The decorating committee consisted of Patricia Nelson, chairman; Beverly Dusing, assistant chairman; Sandra Jeffrey, Edna Cox, Gwenevere Johnson, Charlotte Schubble and Sandra Bowers. This committee decorated the tables with yellow and green crepe paper and five bouquets of spring flowers. They made nut cups out of white paper doilies with yellow and green ribbon and paper individual roses with yellow and green ribbons to pin on their mothers. The cookie committee for this party was Judith Hill, Sally Van Scoyoc, Charlotte Edwards, Kathryn Carry and Carol Hanger.

On May 30 several girls marched in the Memorial Day parade and after the ceremonies 17 of the girls had a weiner roast at the home of their assistant troop leader.

They presented the flag ceremony for the fly-up program for Brownie troop 25 at the Loveland Community House. Flag bearer for the troop is Sally Van Scoyoc and guards of honor are Beverly Dusing and Sandra Bowers.

During the summer they are planning two get togethers.

Officers of the troop are Sally Van Scoyoc, president; Edna Cox, vice president and Judith Hill, secretary. Other members whose names were not mentioned above are Lois Clayton, Nancy Noble, Nancy Hoey, Peggy Merrillees, Marie Cox and Patty Preas.

HONORED QUEEN—Judy Lafferty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lafferty, 702 East Morgan street, Dixon, will be installed as Honored Queen of Bethel No. 59, of the International Order of Job's Daughters at Public Installation ceremonies at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, June 13 at the Dixon Masonic Temple. Members, parents and friends are invited to attend.

BROWNIE TROOP 12

This troop was started among the 2nd grade girls at Loveland school in October under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Knelson and Mrs. Lyle Bellows and they took two short hikes with nosebag lunches. They learned Brownie games and songs. For a Halloween celebration they had a picnic out at Lowell park. During the year they had two parties at the home of Mrs. Lyle Wade, one for Thanksgiving and one for Christmas.

The troop made bookmarks of felt with button hole stitching for Christmas gifts for their mothers. They decorated ash trays for their fathers.

During January Mrs. Wilber Fulfs came to teach them First Aid. Mrs. Norman Dietrich aided them with singing at one meeting. They took a trip to the police and fire departments.

In February Mrs. George Baker, a war-bride from Wales, told the troop about Great Britain. They sent a letter to the Brownies of England along with Mrs. Baker on her trip home.

They had an interesting trip to Hey Bros. ice cream plant where they were all treated to ice cream.

They are planning a Mother-Daughter picnic during the last week of school to be held at Lowell park.

Amvet Auxiliary Plans for Summer

The June business meeting of the Amvets auxiliary Post 123 was held Tuesday, at the Amvet hall. President Imfeld made an informal report of activities at the State Convention June 2-3-4 at East St. Louis.

Treasurer, Alyce Yeast, announced the receipt of $25 from the Lee County Chapter of American War Mothers and $5.50 from "a friend," both donations to be added to the Iron Lung Fund. These two contributions make a total of $295.61, to date, in the Amvets auxiliary Iron Lung Fund.

An all-day demonstration of the Monaghan portable respirator is being held today in the Spiegel store. David Byrnes is conducting this demonstration.

A family picnic will be held Thursday, June 15 at Lowell Park. Each family is to bring its own meat, as well as eating utensils, and a dish to pass. Coffee will be furnished for the adults. Members are asked to meet at the entrance of the park.

Mrs. Elaine Cramer was appointed chairman of a plastic party to be held for auxiliary members and teir guests Tuesday, June 20. Mrs. Anne Hannan was appointed chairman of the refreshment committee. Plans were made for an ice cream social to be held Friday, July 14.

Members were reminded of the public "hard times party and square dance" to be held Saturday, June 17 at the Amvet hall. This dance is for Amvets, their friends, and anyone else who might wish to attend. Mrs. Elaine Cramer and Mrs. Virginia Strub are in charge of decorations for this affair, and Mrs. Fern Pittman and Mrs. Alyce Yeast are heading up the entertainment committee.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held after the picnic on Thursday, June 15.

Alcoholics Anonymous Aids Drunks

most effective treatment for the individual afflicted

There are many forms of treatment employed for alcoholism including psychiatry, psychoanalysis, conditoned-reflex treatment, hospitalization, religious conversion, Alcoholics Anonymous, and others. All have played a part in the story of rehabilitation.

No one of these treatments should be expected to produce recovery for all alcoholics. In every case where a drinker is suffering from the physical effects of a prolonged bout, hospitalization should be made as quickly as possible to prevent serious complications. Phy- attempting to treat the underlying causes of the compulsion to drink. Perhaps physical diseases or disorders of a serious nature are directly responsible for one using alcohol as a pain killer. Medical attention will rule out such possibilities or establish them, as the case may be. Once the alcoholic has been "dried out" and his physical distress reduced, measures may then be prescribed to treat the basic causes. Since each alcoholic presents an individual problem, professional diagnosis tends to eliminate haphazard, costly ventures in trial and error treatment.

May Be Mental

Alcoholism is sometimes a symptom of grave mental disorder which requires confinement in an institution. However, the majority of alcoholics do not suffer from such deep-seated complications and usually respond favorably to appropriate treatment — provided they have a sincere desire to recover and believe that recovery is possible.

The aversion or conditioned-reflex treatment requires that the patient be hospitalized for a period—perhaps two or three weeks. During the course of treatment, the patient is given intermittent doses of alcohol quickly followed by medicine to induce vomiting and lingering nausea. In time, this repeated process builds up an automatic aversion to the taste, sight, scent or thought of liquor. This aversion, however, will not last indefinitely once the patient is discharged. It must be reinforced from time to time. If the patient supports this treatment with group therapy such as is practiced by recovered alcoholics, the aversion treatment can be a most effective initial help along the route to recovery.

Psychiatric treatment begins with the dotcor's attempt to help the patient develop insight of his own so that he will learn and understand for himself more about the unconscious motives and urges which have led him to use alcohol excessively. Frequently, patients can be taught to see how futile are their attempts to escape by way of alcohol and thus become less apt to use alcohol when confronted with future distressing problems. The patient is made to realize that for him, drinking in moderation is an impossibility He is helped to understand himself and to know that the fault is not the bottle, but in himself With the growth of insight comes the decline of dependence on alcohol and the birth of a sincere desire to recover. Such treatment is not of short duration and, of course, is not available to all due to shortage of facilities for such.

Clinic Approach

The Clinic approach to alcoholism is a most effective recovery measure, but there are all too few in this country Clinics patterned after those established and operated by the Yale Plan have proven unusually helpful in salvaging difficult alcoholic cases These clinics are staffed with doctors, psychiatrists social workers, lay-therapists, and investigators skilled in the techniques of handling every phase of the alcoholic's personality problems and the factors influencing him. Physical, mental and material difficulties are analyzed at the clinic and every effort expended to correct them.

There is urgent need for more of these clinics on the community level to care for the large group of neglected alcoholics who could be salvaged were proper care and guidance to be exercised. Jails and workhouses have miserably failed as remedies. Much less costly and far more effective measures could be introduced with the establishment of community clinics. Every citizen can contribute to the cause of rehabilitation by supporting plans for community clinics, or by lending their active assistance to those already in operation.

AA Stands Out

Of all the known treatments for alcoholism, that of Alcoholics Anonymous stands out as the most dramatic, most effective and most available for the greatest numbers. It is uniquely endowed with the ways and means of lending undeniable inspiration and guidance to those needing and wanting help with their drinking confusion. The history of A.A. is packed with exciting chapters of recovery for thousands of alcoholics—men and poor—once considered beyond all hope. Men and women from all walks of life have found sobriety and a happier, more productive existence through their association with this group of alcoholics united in their struggle with a menacing common challenge.

There is no cost involved with the A.A. treatment—merely the honest desire to do something about one's uncontrolled drinking and disordered living A.A. can help those caught in the alcoholic trap, as well as those in danger of being trapped. Most communities have an A.A. group, but should there be difficulty locating one, confidential inquiry of the Alcoholic Foundation, P. O. Box 459 Grand Central Annex, N. Y. 17, N. Y. will provide the desired information.

The program of A.A. is based on the experience of alcoholics, together with what has been learned from medicine, psychiatry, and the principles common to all spiritual creeds. It is not a group of reformers, crusaders, or "holier-than-thou" characters at war with alcohol. It is the policy of A.A. to respond promptly and eagerly to each and every call for help. However it is essential for everyone to realize that unless the alcoholic himself or herself wants to be helped, and is willing to sincerely cooperate, neither A.A. nor anything else can afford much help.

From our relatively brief survey of the alcoholic problem, we may reasonably conclude that

1. Alcoholism is a disease and the alcoholic a sick person
2. The alcoholic can be helped and is worth helping.
3. Alcoholism is a public health problem and a public responsibility as are Heart Disease, Cancer and Tuberculosis.

Made Many Trips

She accompanied him to many of the international conferences at which he played important roles after the war, flying with him to Rio De Janeiro, Paris, London, San Francisco and other cities.

'Pops needs me to look after him," she explained before one of these trips "He won't stop working long enough to eat unless I make him."

Mrs. Vandenberg always took her typewriter along on these trips. A one-time Chicago newspaperwoman, she helped her husband with his speeches and occasionally gave a hand to reporters covering them.

The senator was with Mrs Vandenberg when she died in their apartment at the Wardman Park hotel here.

Family Called

Other members of the family had been asked to hurry here

Doctors had known for some time that Mrs. Vandenberg might die at any time That is one of the reasons they have been trying to keep the senator from taking a more active senate role while he was recovering from a series of operations.

Mrs. Vandenberg surprised friends and doctors by her rallying powers at numerous times in recent months. She would appear to be failing for a few days and then be up and about again later.

The senator made a brief appearance at the senate this week for a hearing before the foreign relations committee.

Examination Of Forrestal Diary Sought

Washington, June 10—(AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me) urged President Truman today to study the late James V. Forrestal's diary for a possible clue to the origin of a "go slow" request in the 1945 Amerasia case arrests.

Wants A Report

"If the president still feels the diary cannot be turned over to congress, then I suggest that he examine it himself in this matter," Brewster said "Then he could give us a report."

A senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating the Amerasia secret documents episode reportedly has received testimony that Forrestal this country's first defense secretary, probably advised delaying the arrest in the controversial case

The case involved discovery of hundreds of confidential government papers in the New York office of the now-defunct magazine Amerasia, and elsewhere.

Diary Locked Up

Forrestal's diary has been locked up at the White House since his death last year in a plunge from an upper floor of a naval hospital near Washington. Truman in the past has turned aside all requests from congress for a look at the diary, which reportedly deals with many top defense secrets.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) demanded yesterday that the sealed book be subpoenaed by the senate inquiry committee.

He said that if Forrestal did intervene in the Amerasia case, he must have felt that Soviet espionage was involved and that more time was needed to develop the case Forrestal was secretary of the navy when the case broke in 1945.

Congress has had little success in subpoenaing documents in custody of the executive branch of the government.

Brewster suggested that a better tack would be for the inquiry committee to ask Truman to scrutinize the diary himself for any indication of whether Forrestal suggested a delay

"If the president found such an indication, he could make that information public," Brewster told reporters. "If he did not, he could say so.

"Such a course should be taken to eliminate any implication reflecting on Forrestal, who can't speak for himself on this matter" tery at the edge of town.

Roy Shelton, never connected with the activities of the Shelton gang, died Wednesday at the hands of a hidden gunman.

Life ended suddenly for Big Carl Shelton in 1947 in an ambush. And in July, 1948, Bernie Shelton died in the same manner.

Their slayers have never been brought to trial.

Of the two Shelton brothers still living—Earl and Dalta—Dalta is a farmer who never has been publicly linked with the Shelton gang's prohibition era rule of southern Illinois.

Won't Leave

Any idea that these repeated attacks on the Sheltons would drive them from Wayne county as dismissed by Mrs. Agnes Shelton, 88, mother of the five brothers

"My boys wouldn't move away and leave their mother," she said. "Anyway they have no place to go."

But a brother-in-law of the Sheltons, Guy Pennington, expressed fear. He told a deputy sheriff yesterday that he believes he is earmarked for death in the style that has reduced the Shelton numbers.

"I think the Pond Creekers will get me," he said. "It looks like they're going to wipe out all of us."

He did not identify the "Pond Creekers" and like the Sheltons said he had no idea who is trying to wipe them out, or why.

Pond Creek is a rural area near Fairfield where Roy and Carl were shot.

Gamblers Complain

Pennington, husband of the Shelton brothers' sister, Lulu, also had a run-in with the police yesterday. Two men—Charles Lodge a carpenter, and W. E Shehorn, a mechanic—complained that they were barred from leaving Pennington's new Twin Pines club after winning $150. They said Guy told them:

"You ain't going home yet. You're gonna stay right here and play cards and you'll get a whipping every time I see you."

They said they left the club later, still with some winnings.

Pennington was charged with operating a gambling establishment and released on bond posted by his wife.

Obituaries

FRED MARTENSON

Services for Fred "Ted" Martenson, 44, former Dixon carpenter, who was electrocuted in a Chicago industrial plant accident Thursday morning, will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Jones funeral home here.

The Rev. C. L. Wagner, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery, with the American Legion conducting graveside rites.

Martenson, employed by the Charles Waterton company, general contractors of Chicago, was electrocuted while operating an electric drill at the Dietzgen plant, 1046 Fullerton avenue, Chicago. Police said the accident occurred when Martenson, standing on a metal bucket, grasped a nearby pipe with one hand. He resided at 2525 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago.

Martenson born here Jan. 27, 1907, had moved to Chicago from Dixon about one and a half years ago.

Surviving are a son, Richard, stationed with the army in Washington, D. C., two brothers, Harry, Chicago, and John, Tacoma, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. Emil Kutschke, Salem, Ore., and Mrs. Charles Lockwood, Rock Island.

HILMA C. PETERS

Rankin, Ill.—Hilma C Johnson Peters passed away at the Paxton Community hospital, June 8, 1950 at 3:40 a. m. Death resulted from injuries received in an auto accident June 5. Preceding her in death was her late husband, Wymer H. Peters, who passed away March 5, 1950, two sons, her parents, four sisters and three brothers. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. C. R. (Mayme) Hammerstrand of Paxton, Ill., Mrs. Sam (Mabel) Skogevik of Dixon, Ill., three grandchildren, two great grandchildren, one sister and one brother Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Brown funeral home at Paxton.

Sen. McCarthy In Revelation At GOP Confab

Carthy's charges, mentioned Bisson in connection with a trip to Yenan, where McCarthy says the picture was taken.

Lattimore referred to Bisson as "a far eastern student" and said he believed Bisson formerly worked for the Foreign Policy association in New York city.

Thomas Arthur Bisson of New York city is identified in "Who's Who" as a writer who was on the research staff of the association covering the far east in 1929. He is listed as a former contributor to Amerasia and as an editor of Pacific Affairs, a publication which was edited at one time by Lattimore.

The "Who's Who" sketch says that during the war Thomas Arthur Bisson was principal economist for the Board of Economic Warfare in 1942-43; was with the U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey of Japan in 1945-46; and was attached to the government section, general headquarters, Supreme Command of the allied powers for Japan in 1946-47.

In a senate speech on March 30, McCarthy called attention to an article by Jaffe entitled "China's Communists Told Me," which he said was published in the magazine, News Masses, Oct. 12, 1937

The picture was contained in a packet of "source material" which McCarthy passed out yesterday to 2,500 delegates to the Wisconsin Republican state convention in Milwaukee The packet also contained excerpts from McCarthy's speeches, government records, communications to McCarthy and records of testimony

"I frankly would not have produced them merely to present a link in the Lattimore chain of evidence. But I feel that I owe the American people a duty to show them the calculated, vicious fraud which the State Department tried to sell to the American people.

"The department was given a chance to come clean and refused. Now I could merely tell you what is in the files which I am about to show you. This I have done in a number of instances, but always with the same result; namely, the issuance of a press release from Acheson's official spokesman, backed by all the power and prestige of the State Department, saying that McCarthy lies—there is no such evidence in the files. In view of my past experience with Acheson's hatchet men, could you recommend any course than the actual production of the files."

Desirable Location!

Now is a good time to purchase a residential lot in the most desirable section of Dixon, the Assembly Park, a very restricted neighborhood. There will never be any stores or any business houses whatsoever in the park.

These are the only available, desirable river front lots, commanding a fine view of Rock River.

This area will contain the beautiful and modern homes of Dixon. A neighborhood means more to a family than anything else.

Owners of lots are well known professional and business men who expect to build beautiful homes as soon as building conditions permit. May we shown you these fine lots. There are many beautiful, large shade trees which add greatly to the value of the property.

Dixon Teams Face Busy Sunday Here

Dixon, Illinois, Saturday, June 10, 1950 — Page Seven

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By MARSHALL JONES
Sports Editor

EDMUND RALEY, POLO, is one of the Illinois State Normal University trackmen to receive letters this spring . . . There were 19 letter awards made to the cinder squad.

• • • •

ACKER AND THOMAS, a Mt. Morris softball team, is looking for games on a home and home basis . . . Harold Patterson does the booking for the team and his address is that city . . . Mt. Morris can play at home on Monday, Friday or Saturday nights . . . The team can play away from home almost any other night.

• • • •

FREEPORT HIGH SCHOOL basketball cagers have been instructed to follow a definite training program during the coming summer . . . Illinois high school rules prevent the Pretzels from having an out-and-out practice session daily but Coach Harry Kinert outlined a six-point program for his squad and pointed them toward what he and the city of Freeport hope will be a state title . . . They even adopted a slogan—"It's next year or never!"

• • • •

OTHER NEIGHBORLY CAGE FANS may wish Freeport the best of luck and hope that if their own boys can't make the grade, then maybe the Pretzels can . . . However, we can't help but remember what happened to another Big Eight team not long ago . . . Elgin practically had the trophy back on the shores of the Fox river at one time . . . Things didn't pan out that way and a lot of people blamed the publicity . . . Could be the Orange and Black is headed for trouble, but they aren't dodging the issue.

• • • •

• • • •

WE RAN ACROSS A good yarn on the topic of catching fish the other day and will pass it on . . . Lynn Callaway, Moline Dispatch writer, had this one to tell about Smiley Burnette, Columbia pictures star . . . Smiley fishes for crappie with very light tackle, but puts about 10 feet of string in his pocket, along with a few balloons from the five-and-dime.

• • • •

WHEN HE CATCHES his first fish, Smiley fastens one end of the string through its mouth and gill, then ties an inflated balloon on the other end of the string, tossing the fish back into the water . . . As soon as it rejoins the school, Smileys rows over to where he can see the balloon, then starts hauling in crappies on all sides . . . We doubt that it will be allowed at the Page lagoon during the fish rodeo, but it's an idea.

Merchants and Legion Play in Afternoon Tilts

Softball and baseball teams find a busy weekend facing them. Some of the Dixon ball players will compete in several of the contests.

Morrison visits Reynolds Field for a game with the Dixon Merchants of the Six Six baseball league. Manager Chuck Christiansen will probably start Ron Sitter on the mound with Frank Nagy catching. The fine young Merchant team is playing better ball each time out and will be well worth watching in their 2:11 p.m. game Sunday. Mel Walker, who had two home runs last week, will probably open at shortstop

BIG SIX SCHEDULE
Morrison at Dixon
Polo at Maytown
Walton at Harmon
Rock Falls at Woosung

The Junior Legion baseball team will take the field against Sterling immediately after the Big Six game. Coach Orville Brindle's Junior Legion outfit has some real coming stars and is expected to put on quite a show.

The opening lineup will probably have Joe Burge at third base, Ronald Nolte, first base; Captain Tom McDonald, second base; Bob Bradley, left field; Dick Jenkins or Jack Burmeister, catcher; Bob Sauer or Bob Santos, shortstop, Darrell Wooldridge, center field; Rich Devine, right field, and Jim Mercer, pitcher.

Other prospective stars are Ken Bruce, Henry Dixon, Heatherington and Wells.

All-Stars Play

Softball at Reynolds Field will pit the Dixon All-Stars against the strong Sterling softball team. A change was made this morning and brings a traditional rival to Dixon. Art Carlson will probably start Vernon "Bullets" Kirk on the mound.

Wiremen to Genoa

Reynolds Wire will journey to Genoa for a Sunday afternoon game with their Northern Illinois league entry. The Wiremen have lost only one game and a win at Genoa will boost them into real league pennant contention. The leaders, Blackhawk A. C. of Rockford, have sidelined their number-one pitcher and face a serious test at South Beloit.

REYNOLDS WIREMEN
The Reynolds team will meet at Riopelle Bros. at 12 noon for their trip to Genoa. It is requested that players be on time in order to get in the proper pre-game practice at Genoa.

Forty Persons Fined for Fish Code Violations

Springfield, Ill., June 10—(AP)—Sweeping along 500 miles of the three major Illinois streams, state Department of Conservation investigators in May seized 46 persons charged with violating the Illinois commercial fishing code.

Forty convictions have been obtained to date, Leonard Schwartz, department director, announced.

Sam Carney, Jr., chief inspector, said the raids will continue along the approximately 500 remaining miles of the Illinois, Mississippi and Wabash rivers.

Investigators so far have confiscated 168 nets, traps and seines valued at approximately $2,000. They were in use without license tags. One 900 foot seine, valued at $400, brought an Iowan a $300 fine and a prison sentence. Total of the fines levied has not been reported by magistrates to the department.

William Fischer, district conservation inspector and a resident of Dixon, is one of the investigators who aided in the raids resulting in 40 convictions of violators. He is pictured in a Conservation Department release of this week with several of the other investigators.

Eighteen arrests were made by the patrols in one day recently in the Rock Island area.

River patrol boats, equipped with two-way radios, worked in conjunction with investigators in radio-equipped cars. Officers are checking all bank and river gear used by both commercial and hook and line fishermen.

A. B. Chandler Orders Cards Not to Play Tilt

St. Louis, June 10—(AP)—Owner Fred Saigh, of the St. Louis Cardinals, a newcomer in organized baseball, is defying orders from higher up.

He insists he isn't going to cancel a Sunday night game with Brooklyn July 16, despite a command from Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Talks Boldly

Saigh, formerly a corporation lawyer, boldly told Chandler in a sharply-worded telegram yesterday that he won't cancel the game until he is given a hearing on the matter.

Fred M. Saigh

No one ever heard of a Sunday night major league game until Saigh and Branch Rickey, owner of the Dodgers, decided to stage one to make up for a contest lost to the rain here recently.

Saigh contends there's nothing in the rules against it. Chandler contends there's nothing in the rules that authorizes it.

Ford Frick, president of the National league, also ordered Saigh not to play the game. Frick said a rules amendment adopted last winter prohibits Sunday night games.

Churches May Object

Chandler in his telegram appears to base his cancellation order on the assumption that religious fans won't stand for a Sunday night game that would interfere with church services.

Saigh countered with a claim that minor league teams play on Sunday night and why shouldn't the majors.

"The Cardinals have not received one objection from a churchman or a layman to the Sunday night setting," he wired Chandler.

New York Giants Win Seven Straight, Top Cubs by 9-3

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now Leo Durocher can say "I told you so." With "my kind of team," Leo is turning the dope topsy turvy in the National league.

The New York Giants drew nothing but boos and catcalls in April and May. In June, they're the darlings of Broadway. Since Leo's gang moved west, they've been red hot.

With seven straight wins and eight out of nine on their second western tour, the Giants lifted themselves by their bootstraps from seventh to fifth place

Only one game under .500 and just 5½ behind the leaders, the Giants command new respect in the pennant race. Currently they can't do anything wrong.

The ninth inning is their specialty. In nine games they scored 64 runs, 17 of them in the ninth. Coming from behind to snatch a win is becoming a habit.

Turned out they didn't need yesterday's five-run explosion in the ninth at Chicago but nailed down a 9-3 decision The result boosted the Giants past the Cubs into fifth place

Eddie Stanky, the Giants' sparkplug, slashed Johnny Schmitz and Frank Hiller for four singles, a perfect day. Wes Westrum chipped in two homers, helping Larry Jansen home with an eight-hit victory, his fourth

Despite the commotion to the rear, Brooklyn and St. Louis continued to match steps in a first-place tie. The Dodgers squeaked past Pittsburgh, 9-7, in the afternoon but St. Louis came right back to take an 8-5 night verdict over Boston.

Manager Burt Shotton called in Don Newcombe, his ace, when the pirates staged a threat in the ninth. Big Don made Danny Murtaugh hit into a game-ending double play. Roy Campanella's two run homer in the eighth and Pee Wee Reese's homer in the ninth led the Brooks home safe.

The Philadelphia at Cincinnati game was rained out.

Detroit Whips Yanks

Detroit salvaged the last game of three at New York, crushing the Yankees, 13-7, in a game marred by an injury to the Yanks' Bob Porterfield.

Porterfield suffered a fractured jaw and concussion when hit on the left cheek bone by a pitched ball thrown by reliefer Paul Calvert in the seventh inning His condition was reported "good" at Lenox Hill hospital

The Tigers mauled Yankee pitching for 16 hits, pulling within 1½ games of the league-leading New Yorkers

Th Boston Red Sox ran true to form, following a record-breaking 29-run day Thursday by losing to the last place St. Louis Browns, 12-7.

Red Sox Records

Even so, the Sox tied a record and broke another. Homers by Ted Williams (his 17th) and Bobby Doerr matched an old New York Yankee mark of 15 homers in four games. The seven-run total made it 56 in three games, four more than the old high.

Ned Garver, who pitched the first seven innings and hit a home run, was credited with the first victory for St. Louie over Boston this season A grand slam homer by Don Lenhardt in the sixth helped Garver.

Sam Zoldak pulled a "Joe Page" with a fine relief job to protect Cleveland's 8-7 edge over Washington. Zoldak, fourth Indian pitcher, needed only two pitches to stop a Washington rally and give Bobby Feller his fifth win.

Chico Carrasquel scored an unearned run off Bob Hooper in the eighth inning for Chicago's 3-2 edge over the Philadelphia A's.

The Athletics' attendance continued to be most discouraging with only 2,709 for the night.

Badgers Meet Ohio U. Nine In NCAA Game

East Lansing, Mich., June 10—(AP) Wisconsin and Ohio University battle it out today for the right to represent District 4 in the NCAA baseball finals next week at Omaha

Each came up with a regional semifinal victory yesterday, the Badgers trounced Michigan State 13-6 and Ohio tripping Western Michigan 4-2

The defeats put both Michigan schools out of the running.

Wisconsin, co-champion of the Big Ten, pounded 16 hits off the offerings of three State pitchers for an easy victory Bob Snea of Wisconsin and Joe Becard and Lou Bloch of MSC hit home runs.

Ohio University, which finished second in the Mid-America conference, ousted the Mid-America champ by defeating Western Michigan.

Cubs Schedule Tryout Camp At Rock Falls

The Chicago Cubs will hold a baseball tryout camp at the Howe Field, half a mile South of the junction of U. S. 30 and Illinois Route 88, Rock Falls, Ill., June 15 at 10 a.m. (Central Daylight Time)

All players must bring their own uniforms and equipment, including a towel, but masks, leg guards and protectors will be furnished for the catchers. Players may bring their favorite bat if they wish

Players should report to Coach Bill Conroy at least half an hour before the start of the camp each day.

Any player signed to a minor league contract will be reimbursed for his expenses.

Reynolds Field Softball

MONDAY'S SCHEDULE
CITY LEAGUE
Make-up games to be played.
Raynors vs. VFW
Merchants vs. Moose

Shallow cultivation should be used for roses since young feeder roots are near the surface.

Decatur's Ace To Play Dodd In Women's Golf

Dallas, June 10—(AP)—The Women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament was without a favorite today as two blondes, a red-head and a brunette entered the semi-final round.

Gone were Polly Riley, the Fort Worth Curtis Cupper who had been the people's choice to win her third Trans title, and Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., the defending champion.

Dark-haired, dark-eyed Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., who took out Miss Riley yesterday, 3 and 2, will meet Betty Dodd, slender San Antonio red-head in this afternoon's penultimate round.

Tow-headed Beverly Hanson, the wise-cracking putting genius from Indio, Calif., will play the pretty blonde from Corvalis, Ore., Gracie DeMoss, who toppled Miss Rawls, in the other match.

Tampico Nine Beats Lindquist By 7-3 Margin

The Lindquist team of the City League journeyed to Tampico for a game with the Chiefs last night.

Herb Kirst pitched for the locals with Vic Valve behind the plate.

Tampico won the game 7-3 on six hits Dixon had seven hits. Harold Glessner had three hits for Lindquists and Pinky Walters had two.

Dutch Harrison Moves Into Merion National Open Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Ardmore, Pa., June 10—(AP)—The golden anniversary U. S. Open golf championship lost its story book complexion today and settled down to a fight among a bunch of old mercenaries for the greatest prize of them all.

In the van going into the decisive 36 holes was a long, easy-going fellow from Arkansas, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who has been busy collecting money on the tournament trail for more than 10 years but who never has won a major crown.

"I expect I can hold up as well as the next one," drawled the wartime army sergeant as he discussed prospects of protecting the sub-par 139 that set the halftime pace. Par is 36-34—70

"I believe a couple of 71's would win for me and I might be able to do it. I'm playing pretty good."

As he strides down Merion's fairways with that loose, lazy stride of his, the 40-year old campaigner is apt to be looking over his shoulder at three other pros just a stroke behind and a little man named Ben Hogan

Harrison, who hails from Little Rock, Ark., but who now represents St. Andrews, Ill., was the only man to crack Merion's tenacious par for two days' struggle with the 6,694-yard, sand-speckled east layout.

Par took a terrific licking here and there but the gents who whipped it one day come back groggy and couldn't do it the next.

Mackey Fails

The course's most significant triumph was over Alabama's one-day wonder, Lee Mackey, Jr., who skied to an 81 after fashioning that record-breaking first day 64.

The 26-year-old Birmingham unknown, who came to the tournament looking for a pro job, got an excellent view of Merion's thick, matted rough and harassing sand in using 17 additional strokes his second time around.

Three professionals were even with par at 140 as the field: reduced from 165 to 52, moved into the showdown.

They were Johnny Bulla of Verona, Pa., who blazed a second round 66, Jim Ferrier, with 71-69, and Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N. C., a pro of less than a year, added a 72 yesterday to a previous 68.

Hogan Stays Close

Hot on the heels of all of them came the most feared and respected man in present-day golf, bantam Ben Hogan, with 72-69—141

This is the little man who was undisputed king of American golf until an automobile accident left him a bundle of broken bones 17 months ago. They said he'd never play again but here he is.

Harrison began his golf at 18, became a pro at 20 and has been one of the most active contenders on what the boys call the gold dust divot trail.

He was sixth in money winning in 1949 and holds tight to his place today with $6,744.50.

The $4,000 top prize in the Open would be a fat boost. But Harrison wants the Open crown for other reasons. It's worth many additional thousands in prestige. A golfer doesn't arrive until he gets it.

Hill Prince and Middleground Enter Belmont

New York, June 10—(AP)—Hill Prince and Middleground, plus seven other colts who seem to be particularly concerned about third place money, were scheduled to have it out today in the $75,000 Belmont stakes.

This is the third and toughest leg of the traditional triple crown for three-year-olds. Hill Prince or Middleground could just about wrap up the 1950 sophomore championship by parading home on top in the mile and one-half grind—particularly Hill Prince.

Although Middleground copped the Kentucky Derby with Chris Chenery's Hill Prince second, the Virginia flyer reversed the order in the Preakness. Middleground couldn't do it for King Ranch and Texas in the Preakness, where Hill Prince flew home winner by five big lengths. In their four clashes to date, Hill Prince holds a 3 to 1 edge.

The nine horses expected to parade to the post at 3:47 p. m. (EST) are, in addition to the two big ones, C. V. Whitney's Mr. Trouble, Hal Price Headley's Lotowhite, George D Widener's Lights Up, Clifford Mooers' Brandywine stable's Greek Song, and the Brookemeade stable entry of Greek Ship and Sunglow.

PRO TENNIS
CLEVELAND—Defending champion Bobby Riggs joined Pancho Segura and Frank Kovacs in singles semi-finals of the National Professional tennis championships as rain cut short day's schedule.

Yesterday's Sports in Brief

GOLF
ARDMORE, Pa.—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison took the lead with 139 at the halfway mark of the National Open tournament as Lee Mackey, Jr., first day sensation, took a dismal 81
DALLAS—Favorites tumbled from the Women's Trans-Mississippi tournament as the quarter-finals, defending champion Betsy Rawls of Austin and medalist Polly Riley of Fort Worth among the victims

RACING
CHICAGO—Jockey Ken Church starred on the Lincoln Fields at Washington Park program with five winners out of seven mounts
BOSTON—Equihaze ($8) edged Haloette the 3-5 favorite, to win the featured six furlong dash at Suffolk Downs.
